K.C. Daniel proved that he could talk the talk when he was crowned the state-bid calling champion last year. Recently he competed against 86 of the best male auctioneers from around the world at the International Auctioneer Championship on July 15 in Orlando.

Daniel

The IAC was established in 1988 to honor "the best of the best" within the auction industry. From livestock and autos, to real estate and nonprofit organizations, each auctioneer competes against fellow professionals to be crowned an IAC champion.

This will be the first time that the owner of local real estate auction firm Associate Auctions has competed in international competition.
